Congo Rebels' War Dance On Missionary's Stomach

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Rebel warriors performed a savage war dance of death on the stomach of American missionary William McChesney until he died, refugees said today.

McChesney, the sixth American missionary to be killed by Communist-backed rebels in the northeastern Congo in the past two months, was trampled to death at Wamba during almost a week of bloodletting last November.

Business Of Peace As Urgent

LBJ's Message To Soviet People For the New Year

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has told Russian leaders that "the most urgent business for all of us remains strengthening the foundation of world peace."

Along with New Year's greetings and best wishes to the Soviet people and their leaders, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Anastas I. Mikoyan, Johnson said:

"We can and should move to limit the spread of nuclear weapons; to achieve a verified worldwide comprehensive test ban; to make a cutoff of fissionable material production for weapons coupled with measures to safeguard the peaceful uses of nuclear power; and to agree on a verified freeze in existing offensive and defensive strategic nuclear delivery systems."

"By progress in this critical area, our governments can help to make this a happier and safer world for all peoples."

The White House said the letters sent Wednesday to the Soviet leaders did not represent an exchange of greetings, because the customary New Year's message has not been received from the Soviet chiefs.

Johnson had no official visitors on his schedule today and planned work on his State of the Union message.

Rights Rally After Church Is Rebuilt

RIPLEY, Miss. (AP)—College students who raised a new Negro church on the ashes of one that burned after a civil rights rally began packing for home today.

The new Antioch Baptist Church stood unfinished but most of the major work is done. A modest steeple adorned the front.

"I just wish we could have completed it before we left," said Marshall Aronoff, a student at Oberlin College in Ohio.

The 28 white students still on hand—six left several days ago—joined a festive, three-hour civil rights rally in the church Wednesday night.

Sheriff Wayne Mauney stood outside during the meeting. He said he wanted to make certain everything was peaceful.

The new steeple was hoisted just a few hours before the rally. The benches were planks supported by concrete blocks. The light glared from bare bulbs hastily strung along the rafters.

The 200 Negroes who attended roared "freedom songs" and heard high praise for the students who turned their holiday into a "Carpenters for Christmas" project.

Some students planned to continue work here until Jan. 2 before heading back to class. The "carpenters" have had all the help they needed from Negroes in the area.

Dr. David Jewell, a member of the Oberlin faculty, said elected and plumbing and bricklaying must be done, in addition to finishing touches inside.

Graves Used As Trap Bait

100 Vietnamese Ambushed On Body Recovery Mission

SAIGON, South Viet Nam. (AP)—The Viet Cong ambushed 100 Vietnamese marines today as they were opening graves believed to contain the bodies of four U. S. servicemen shot down as fighting continued around Binh Nghia.

A U. S. Marine captain was wounded in the ambush.

The marines fought their way into a jungle area where a U. S. Army helicopter was shot down Wednesday night as it was covering marines collecting the bodies of government troops. The helicopter burst into flames and exploded when it hit the treetops.

A marine search company reached the crash site this afternoon and found four fresh graves next to the wreckage, presumably containing the bodies of the helicopter's four American crewmen.

The marines reportedly were digging up the graves when a powerful Viet Cong unit ambushed them.

Vietnamese losses were believed to be extremely heavy.

The marine unit withdrew, taking their wounded with them, and late in the afternoon were preparing to attack the area again with the whole marine battalion.

Government troops regained Binh Nghia, a town of 6,000 Roman Catholic refugees 40 miles east of Saigon Wednesday, but fighting continued around it today for the fourth day. It was one of the longest actions of the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The Defense Department in Washington listed the helicopter crewmen as missing, but it seemed almost certain that their bodies were in the graves by the wreckage.

"The Viet Cong have done this before—used graves of Americans as bait," one U. S. adviser said.

UN Recesses With Congo Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly started an 18-day New Year recess today after closing out 1964 without a Soviet-U.S. showdown over the Russians' assembly vote.

The Security Council ended its year with a resolution calling for a cease-fire in the Congo, withdrawal of Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and further efforts by the Organization of African Unity to bring peace between Tshombe's government and the rebels.

The resolution was adopted 10-0—with France abstaining—after its African sponsors omitted condemnation of the Belgian-U.S. paratroop operation in November to rescue white hostages held by the rebels. Instead, the resolution "deplored the recent events" in the Congo.

Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana recessed the 115-nation General Assembly Wednesday night until Jan. 18 after persuading Jordan and Mali to split a two-year term on the Security Council. This broke a deadlock that threatened to necessitate a formal vote, which would have brought a Soviet-U.S. showdown.

The split-term agreement enabled the assembly to finish all the necessary business of its first 30 days by general consent, without any voting on the floor.

Sen. Cason Divorced

Cason, who is 40, served six years as prosecuting attorney of Henry County and was elected to the Senate in 1960 and re-elected last November.

Missouri Reapportionment Ordered; Stay Is Granted

Little to Celebrate

Flood Victims In New Misery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Thousands of victims of the billion-dollar flood that struck five Western states had little to celebrate this New Year's Eve, except that they were alive.

Adding to their misery, snow, rain and hail pummeled Washington, Oregon, northern California, Idaho and Nevada, and the Weather Bureau predicted the storm would last through Friday.

A steady downpour hampered rescue and reconstruction efforts of 125,000 workers in the five states.

The most critical spot was in northern California's Klamath National Forest where 500 persons were cut off from the outside by washed-out roads and four days of snow that has left three to four feet of pack on the ground.

Snow continued to fall in Yreka where helicopter rescue operations have been halted since Wednesday by the storm.

"If the weather keeps up we'll have a serious problem," said

Civil Defense chief Bill Sowle. "The people in there have another week's supplies. It's still an emergency situation."

A one-lane road was opened 70 miles through the forest to the mountain community of Happy Camp, he said, but it is accessible only by four-wheel-drive vehicles.

Food, gasoline, and repair equipment were taken in. Despite lack of power and drinking water the situation was termed "very good" by Sowle.

"Indications are now we will come out of this without loss of life," Sowle said.

Bid Call Set On Moving Water Mains

Sedalia's Board of Public Works will issue a call for bids next week for water main relocations resulting from state highway improvements in the third phase of the city Urban plan.

The highway project calls for improvements to West Main Street from Grand Avenue to the new overpass of relocated Highway 65.

Water Department Manager Herb Taylor explained the highway work will necessitate relocation of mains from Prospect Avenue westerly to just east of the overpass.

At a meeting of the city traffic Advisory Committee Tuesday afternoon, Highway Department engineers said the contracts for work on West Main Street are scheduled to be let in February. This is in accordance with the Highway Department's schedule of approximately one contract per year on the Urban Plan work. Slated next is the North Ohio project and condemnation actions were recently initiated for that phase.

The engineers also pointed out a widening and resurfacing project to complete the East Broadway phase will be tied to the contract on West Main Street. Scheduled to be widened is about a quarter-mile stretch from the Missouri-Pacific underpass easterly to the city limits. The quarter-mile piece is to be widened from 20 feet to 24 feet and resurfaced.

Stay Hinged to General Assembly Taking Action

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A legislative reapportionment in Missouri was ordered today by a three-judge U.S. District Court panel, but its decision was stayed with an order that the 1965 session of the General Assembly do the job.

The court indicated that if the legislature does not do the job it will reinvoke its decision of today and order that it be done.

The suit to force the reapportionment was brought by four citizens of Jackson County and three from St. Louis city. It was heard by the panel last Oct. 12.

The decision came from Judge Albert A. Ridge of the U. S. Court of Appeals and Judges Floyd R. Gibson and William H. Becker of the U.S. District Court.

Their decision referred to a "malapportionment" that is in violation of federal constitutional requirements and a recent U.S. Supreme Court opinion.

The decision said: "From the stipulated facts and exhibits it has been demonstrated that the Missouri House of Representatives and the Missouri Senate are malapportioned in violation of federal constitutional requirements and standards in that the per capita representation is absent in the composition thereof."

"However, in the interests of equity and justice it must be ruled that the 1965 session of the Missouri Legislature will have a de facto status to legislatively correct that situation."

"Therefore, the most that should now be ruled in the case at bar is that, during the first regular session of that assembly, it should promptly devise and pass legislation creating and establishing a system of legislative districting and apportionment of the Missouri House and the Missouri Senate in accordance with federal constitutional standards."

The court then added: "To permit this to be done, relief as presently sought by the plaintiffs and intervenor plaintiffs will be withheld and stayed, and this court will refrain from taking present action in the premises of this case until the close of the regular session of the 1965 General Assembly."

During the hearing, attorneys for the plaintiffs argued that Kansas City and St. Louis have been under-represented since the 1930 census.

Hard Look By Soviets At UAR Aid

Nasser Is Told Reds Not a Rich Uncle Like US

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser can expect little if any food from the Soviet Union if the United States cuts off its multimillion-dollar food-aid program to the United Arab Republic, sources close to the Russians said today.

Soviet Deputy Premier Alexander Shelepin, one of the Kremlin's new leaders, told Nasser in effect that the Soviet Union is no Santa Claus, these sources said.

Shelepin returned to Moscow earlier this week after a 10-day visit to Egypt. He apparently took a hard look at the way Soviet military and economic aid is being spent here.

The sources gave this summary of Shelepin's conversations with Nasser:

The Soviet leader came to Cairo to assure Nasser that former Premier Khrushchev's pro-Egyptian policies are not being abandoned and that the Egyptian can expect continued fruitful relations with the Soviet Union—but only on a realistic basis.

But Shelepin emphasized that the Soviet Union has problems at home, especially in agriculture, and vast commitments abroad.

"We are not a rich uncle like the United States and we cannot afford to throw our money around," one Soviet source said. "We must be sure we are getting full value for everything we give."

"Our relations will be on a more realistic footing in the future."

After a lukewarm start, Shelepin's travels and speeches around the country were given splash treatment in Egypt's government-controlled press.

No Traffic Deaths In City for Year; Crucial Time Ahead

Police were waiting out the last few remaining hours of 1964 with crossed fingers Thursday, hopeful the city's improved traffic accident rate would remain fatality free.

If no fatalities are recorded on city streets before midnight tonight, Sedalia will have its first death-free year since 1957. Although accident statistics are still incomplete, police said the number of mishaps is currently 44 behind the 1963 total and the number of injuries is also down.

"Part of this we feel is due to our tightening down on traffic violations," Chief of Police William Miller said. "We would also like to ask for the public's continued cooperation during the coming year because we intend to continue strict enforcement of the traffic ordinances."

'Signal Ahead' Signs

Acting quickly after receiving a suggestion Tuesday from the city Traffic Advisory Committee, workmen for the State Highway Department today installed "Signal Ahead" warning signs a block east and west of the intersection of Broadway and Grand.

The traffic committee proposed installation of the warning signs as a stopgap measure between now and the time more modern traffic signals can be erected at the intersection, which has the reputation of being the most accident-prone location in the city.

Workmen put up a sign at Harrison east of the intersection, and at Prospect, a block west.

Miller Will Return To Law Practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., said today his decision not to seek elective office again is final.

The defeated GOP vice-presidential candidate, who will return to his upstate New York law practice after his congressional term expires Jan. 3, cited his age — 50 — and his family — he and his wife have four children — as his reasons for retiring from public life.

Miller, interviewed by telephone at his Washington home, said he is too old to move in and out of politics but still young enough to develop a thriving law practice.

"The choice was between re-entering public life and trying to get a holding operation until an opportunity developed or to cut the ties completely and return to my law practice," he said.

Miller cited his family and a desire to return to his law practice in announcing last Jan. 9 a decision to bow out of public life both as a congressman and as Republican national chairman, a post he held from June 2, 1961, until last July's Republican National Convention.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the defeated GOP presidential candidate, tagged him at that time as his running mate.

Miller accepted the vice-presidential nomination despite his earlier announcement to retire but indicated today his decision won't change this time.

"We've made a down payment on a home in Lockport, and I intend to stay there and practice law and not move again," Miller said. "I'm sure of it."

Most of his children will be at a crossroads in life during the coming year and Miller said he is anxious to settle down for their sake.

Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Four baby moon hub caps valued at $12 were reported stolen from a 1963 Chevrolet while it was parked at 802 East Ninth Tuesday night. Don Woodward made a report of the theft to police Wednesday.

Floyd Cureton, 1902 South Prospect, reported to police the radio antenna was broken on his 1956 auto while it was parked Wednesday night at his address.

A portable television set valued at $150 was stolen early Thursday morning from a room at the Boots Motel, Broadway and State Fair Blvd. The theft occurred between 4 a.m. and 9:30 a.m., police were informed.

Police were notified Thursday morning by the FBI that a 1964 Dodge pickup truck stolen in August from the Bryant Motor Company here has been recovered by the Sheriff's Department at Fort Myers, Fla. The vehicle has been missing since Aug. 4.

Two subjects identified as Joseph Sydney Littlepage and Sharon Ann Littlepage are in custody of the Florida authorities, police were informed.

Police advised Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz of the recovery and apprehension of the couple.

Bill Taylor reported to police Wednesday evening that a knock off hub from a magnesium wheel on his 1956 auto was stolen while the car was parked near Seventh and Montauk. The loss was set at $5.

Police said Wednesday afternoon that investigator has cleared up a rash of minor burglaries in the city dating as far back as May.

Sgt. Perry Franklin said the investigation is continuing, but a juvenile Negro boy has been implicated along with two other Negro youths who are reported out of state.

Cleared up, Franklin reported, were break-ins at the Herrmann Lumber Company on Sept. 7, the Zero Locker and Grocery on Sept. 23 and the Freeze Dairy on Nov. 11. The youths were also linked to a theft of some small items from Hubbard School and an attempted break-in at the Mair Street Bar on May 23.

Miss Shields Shown With Chief Justice

In the issue of the Lodestar, publication of the American University Alumni Association, designed as a Law School Commemorative Edition, following the dedication of the new Washington College of Law on The American University campus by Chief Justice Earl Warren, is a picture of Miss Carrington Shields, daughter of Mrs. Carrington Shields, 402 Dal-Whi-Mo Court, taken with Chief Justice Warren. Miss Shields is a member of the faculty of the Washington College of Law.

20 years. She is in remarkably good health but her mind is not as clear as it once was.

We can afford a nursing home which is where she belongs, for her own safety, as well as ours. She forgets that stoves now have automatic pilots and insists on lighting the burners with a paper torch. Worse yet, she is the saving-type and insists on doing her own dry cleaning. Last week she put a bottle of naphthalene on the stove. I walked into the kitchen just in time to see her do it. I've begged her not to dry clean in the kitchen but she "forgets."

When I tell my husband I'm scared to death that we, along with our three children may one day be blown to pieces, he gets insulted and yells, "Don't tell me my mother is nuts. She is old enough to know what she's doing."

Please, Ann, help me.—PET-RIFIED.

Dear Pet: A person 89 is old enough to know what she's doing—the fact is, she may be TOO old.

It is unfair of your husband to disregard the safety of his family because he is afraid of offending his mother. I hope one day he doesn't regret his stubbornness.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taking a tip from J. Edgar Hoover, the Secret Service has ordered a shield of bulletproof glass for President Johnson when he views the inaugural parade Jan. 20.

And officials are considering a similar precaution on the inauguration platform at the U.S. Capitol.

The Warren Commission that investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy asked FBI Director Hoover his recommendations for improving presidential protection.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shift from traditional last-minute bargaining has been proposed by a blue-ribbon panel after an 18-month study of the causes of labor-management strife.

The new style of bargaining as recommended by the 12-man panel would involve continuing discussions between labor and management instead of the traditional hectic bargaining that often takes place when a contract is about to expire.

The group, composed of prominent representatives of both sides, was named by late President John F. Kennedy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. holdings of monetary gold declined by $40 million in November, the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

The decrease brought the gold stock to a total of $15,566,000,000 on Nov. 30. The gold holdings thus dipped, for the first time since March, below the total of gold reserves with which the year began — $15,596,000,000.

Dr. Steinwachs Returns From Global Journey

Dr. Gottlieb V. Steinwachs, pastor of the Catholic Church of Bahner, was one of a group of priests of the Eucharistic League, who has just returned from a trip around the world. In the group of 58 were, also, two other priests from the Jefferson City Diocese, The Rt. Rev. Monsig. John Dreisoerner of Booneville and The Rev. Fred Yehle of Edina.

The group went first to the Eucharistic Congress in Bombay by Paris, Rome and the Holy Land; Cairo, Egypt, Gater in the Persian Gulf and from there to Bombay where the Pope was, also, for the Congress.

They then went from there to Calcutta, Bangkok, Thailand, Hong Kong, to Manila then back to Hong Kong, to Tokyo, Honduras, San Francisco and then home.

Needed: Mastarm Controls

New traffic control signals similar to those at Broadway and Limit avenue which were installed as part of the Urban Highway Improvement plan are needed at other intersections on Broadway (Highway 50).

A request for them, particularly at Grand avenue, resulted in an engineering survey by the State Highway department. Subsequently the engineers presented a recommendation at a group meeting with the Traffic Advisory committee, the Mayor and some City Councilmen. This proposal was for higher standard traffic control signals at Grand, Ohio, Massachusetts, and an additional one at Kentucky. Present controls at Engineer were termed unwarranted.

The highway department engineers and city officials are in agreement that the mastarm type of controls jutting over intersections are preferable to the substandard ones now in use.

A disappointing aspect of these proposed improvements, is the time lag involved in installation by the highway department. The engineers indicated a target date for completion by 1968 provided City Council agreed to a package deal for the controls. The reason for this is that funds for the controls would have to come out of the department's normal budget; that it would cost as much to do one now at Grand avenue as to do all of them at once.

We do not know what kind of hoss-trading, if any, can be made to accelerate the highway department but the general feeling is that city council should authorize the package deal and hope for earlier than 1968 completion of the project.

In the meantime the offer of the department to erect "Signals Ahead" warning signs one block east and west of the Grand avenue intersection should be accepted at once. This is a high accident rate intersection to which Mayor L. L. Studer has called attention persistently in the hopes of getting new controls there. Pending installation of these controls, the "Signals Ahead" signs will function as deterrents to automotive casualties.

Something else that would help, too, would be for motorists not to take advantage of the allowable 35 mile speed zone on the Broadway approaches to Grand avenue.

Here's a resolve, among others, that may pay off for everybody in making 1965 a Happy New Year: Stay sober, be alert and slow down, not only at Broadway and Grand but in most categories of our daily activities.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Division Over Seating Congressmen

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A significant battle between the moderates and the left wing of the civil rights movement took place at a recent closed-door session of the Leadership Conference for civil rights.

On the surface, the showdown was over the seating of Mississippi congressmen when Congress opens next week. Underneath, however, was an undertone of disenchantment by some civil rights groups with the left wing of the movement.

The Leadership Conference is composed of labor representatives, the NAACP, Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, SNCC (Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee), and various religious groups.

Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP was presiding when Bill Higgs, the able young attorney for SNCC, raised the question of supporting the Mississippi Freedom Democratic representatives to get seated in Congress instead of the recently elected Mississippi congressmen.

Mitchell, however, refused to hear him. "Let's be frank," he said, "I've got Dr. Henry and Charles Evers down in Mississippi to think about. I can't go behind their backs."

He referred to the fact that Dr. Aaron Henry, Mississippi head of the NAACP, has withdrawn from the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, while Evers, Secretary of the NAACP, has disapproved of certain left-wing elements in the Freedom party. Both men had been in Washington at the last meeting of the Leadership Conference to urge that the Mississippi congressmen not be seated, but that the conference not support representatives of the Freedom party in their place.

Hot Words

Since this position had been previously adopted by the Leadership Conference, Chairman Mitchell ruled it could not be reopened.

Robert Spike of the National Council of Churches, however, called the ruling unreasonable, and Andy Biemiller of the AFL-CIO counseled Mitchell: "You'd better let 'em talk."

So it was decided to hold an informal meeting after the regular meeting to discuss the question of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party and the proposed seating of its representatives in Congress in lieu of the four Democrats and one Republican elected in November.

It was generally agreed that because Negroes were disenfranchised in that election it was invalid. But Higgs of SNCC argued that the three Negro ladies, elected in a side election conducted by the Freedom party, were legally elected to Congress. Rev. Walter Fauntroy, spokesman for Dr. King, supported him.

"Dr. King wants me to say that he supports this and hopes you will," Fauntroy said. "I called him in Paris."

"He must not have read the papers or he wouldn't have said that," Chairman Mitchell replied. "You have no right to mislead these women," he told Higgs.

Frank Pohlhouse, counsel for the NAACP, went further. He called the three women publicity seekers.

Herman Edelsburg of the Anti-Defamation League read a memo by Joe Rauh, counsel for the United Auto Workers and the man who did such a dramatic job of presenting the Mississippi Freedom party's case before the Atlantic City convention. The memo stated that Dr. Henry of Clarksdale, Miss., who had run against Sen. John Stennis—in the side election—was withdrawing on advice of counsel.

"I told him," Rauh's memo stated, "that he had no legal right to sit in lieu of Stennis."

For the same reason, Rauh stated, he did not think the other Freedom party representatives had a right to sit in lieu of the four Democratic and one Republican congressmen, since they were not elected in a regularly constituted election.

Bilbo's Precedent

Others argued that if it were possible to seat persons in Congress not regularly elected, it would set a precedent that could backfire. Nazis might use it to claim election to Congress.

There was some discussion of the fact that the late Sen. Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi had been denied his seat in 1947 after he had prevented Negroes from voting. Bilbo never did take his seat. He died while waiting for the Senate to decide whether he was entitled to represent Mississippi again in Congress.

However, it was also brought out that Sen. Homer Ferguson, R-Mich., who made the motion asking Bilbo to step aside, based it on personal fraud rather than denial of voting rights to Negroes.

The closed-door debate was heated and lasted until midnight. As the meeting adjourned, Chairman Mitchell said: "We usually get a consensus, but I can see there's going to be no consensus tonight."

It was the consensus of the majority, however, that the Leadership Conference should vigorously oppose the seating of the five regularly elected Mississippi Congressmen on the ground that Mississippi had denied the vote to almost one-half its population.

But it was also the opinion of the majority that there should be no attempt to substitute the representatives of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party in place of the congressmen. Private citizens, it was pointed out, cannot go out and hold an election on their own.

Guarded Mississippian

The most carefully guarded civilian in the United States today is Horace Barnett, one of the 21 Mississippians held to be involved in the murder of the three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

Barnett gave the FBI a signed confession that he participated in the murder. The FBI is worried that Barnett's former buddies will try to silence him or even do to him what some of them did to the three Freedom workers. As a result, Barnett is under day-and-night FBI guard. He is now living in Cullen, Louisiana.

Unnatural Calm Greet the New Year

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The little guy, any little guy going home this New Year's Eve, felt so calm it was unnatural. A whole year gone without a great fear or a great disaster. He wasn't used to it.

It wouldn't last, he thought, as he hustled along, like heading into a new century. So he slowed down, asking himself: "What's the rush? It's just another year coming up." Is that all?

He didn't know. He had seen too many years to be sure.

He remembered this same night last year, going home. He was dragging then, not bustling, with the Dallas thing still on his mind, spoiling everything for him, even his sense of life.

In 1963, after that day in November, he would have been glad if someone, remembering President Kennedy, had said officially: "Happiness is canceled for the rest of the year."

The year before that the Cuban missiles gave him the creeps. Not just the danger. They made him feel more than ever that the world was getting nuttier. The world he grew up in wasn't like that, or so he told himself.

And the year before that there was the Berlin wall, and the year before. There was almost always something, but this year practically nothing except the presidential campaign. Was that right? He tried to remember.

There was the income tax cut. He remembered that. And he remembered he didn't understand it or how much the cut was. Too complicated. He'd find out later when he was doing his tax return. It could wait.

But the campaign stuck in his head. He hadn't seen one like it. A bit of a weirdy, in a way. President Johnson and Senator Barry Goldwater campaigning up and down, saying the same things over, and promising hardly anything.

It didn't quicken his blood, that's for sure. He felt all along the returns were in before the count began, and the polls showed it.

He got on the bus. Jampacked but so anxious faces. They were like him, the undisturbed. Any shooting in 1964 was far off, in the Congo or Viet Nam. Any shouting was far off, too, in the Soviet Union or Red China or some place.

The bus lurched and the people tilted but their expression didn't change. Here at home the country was living high. Most people, that is. Not everybody, though. He read about millions who weren't.

He never really saw them. They lived in a different part of town or a different part of the country, the empty-handed ones. He figured he never saw them because his routine was home-to-bus-to-office-to-bus-to-home.

He didn't have much money himself. But at least he could send his kids through school. Long ago, and he didn't know how, he had developed a habit of not thinking about the ones who couldn't.

This bothered him a little, but not much, because he was wrapped up in his garden, and the car, and the family, and a thousand things every day. What things? He was glad he was asking himself the question.

If someone else had done the asking he wouldn't have known what to say because his life wasn't that filled up or tied up or occupied. A feeling of anguish went through him for a second.

It always did, but only for a second, whenever he tried to ask himself what he was doing with his life. Just existing, he thought, and maybe each year just a little less.

Time was peeling the years off him like the skin of a banana. Maybe something that happened in 1965 would give him back, if only for a moment, that fierce sense of response and action he had at 21. He knew better.

He looked at the people in the bus: the tall, the short, the fat, the skinny. They all knew better, too. They didn't seem to be worrying. He shook himself. "That's enough of this stuff," he said. "Let's get going."

The bus kept going. And 1965 was just around the corner.

Letters To The Editor

KATHY GARDNER (Kansas City) — "To The Unknown Humanitarian" — At 6 o'clock on Christmas Eve morning, my 81-year old mother, my son, and myself were on a trip from Kansas City to South Central Missouri. For those who were awake at that time, you will remember it was raining, very windy, and cold. We were about ten miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50 when I realized I had a flat tire. My son and I tried to change it but found the lug wrench would not fit. We then began to try to flag down automobiles but to no avail when suddenly a nice young gentleman in a new model white Chevrolet pick-up truck stopped and aided us by giving (not loaning) us his lug wrench. Well, needless to say, this was an act of human kindness we rarely experience these days and not knowing the gentleman's name, I would like to make this effort of contacting him to let him know how grateful we are that he stopped. As I recall, he stated he was on his way to Sedalia to open up "the store." So no doubt he is a merchant somewhere there. Again, thank you, Sir, for helping me. Through your help we were able to get home for the Church Services on Christmas Eve.

Democrat Pick-ups

IT WAS JUST before Christmas and excitement was high in every household, and certainly in homes where there were children eagerly awaiting the big day.

In one home a mother was busy in the nursery which is next to her bedroom when she saw her husband drive into the driveway of their farm home. Wanting him to do something before he came into the house she told her little first grade girl to go out the front door and tell her father what she wanted him to do.

The child dashed out of the room, through the bedroom and into another room to the stairway. Realizing that wasn't where she was supposed to go, she turned and started for another door. That wasn't where she wanted to go either. And then in utter confusion, her mother heard her exclaim: "Well, where is the front door?"—H. L.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Benign Fibroid Tumor Needs Regular Check

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

The uterine fibroid that is new to you is no new thing to your doctor. It is estimated that 20 per cent of all women older than 35 have one or more of these benign muscular tumors. Often they are so small as to be of no significance and remain stationary. On the other hand, they may grow to a weight of more than 100 pounds.

Although the cause is unknown, some imbalance in female hormones may be a factor in their production since they appear late in the reproductive life of a woman and may stop growing or even shrink after the menopause.

How much harm they do depends largely on their size. They may interfere with conception, or if pregnancy occurs they may cause premature delivery or they may block the birth canal and necessitate a Caesarean section.

Surgeons once advocated removal of the uterus if it contained a fibroid large enough to be felt. We now know that this is a mistake. A fibroid may be as large as a grapefruit and if it does not cause pressure on the bladder or uterine bleeding, it should be left alone. Many a woman in the past has complained of a backache or headache and on being found to have one or more small fibroids has had her uterus removed. The backaches or headaches persisted. This can be a very discouraging experience for both the doctor and the patient.

The plan adopted by most surgeons now is to ask the woman who has a fibroid to report for an examination every six months. If the fibroid is not showing signs of rapid growth, the watchful waiting continues and in most cases operation never becomes necessary.

If, on the other hand, the tumor starts to grow to an awkward size or to cause bladder irritation or uterine bleeding, it should be removed. It should never be removed as a precautionary measure to prevent cancer because fibroids rarely become malignant. When the question of malignancy arises, a D and C (dilatation and curettage) can be performed and a microscopic examination made of the scrapings. This will reveal cancer cells if any are present.

Q — Are gold shots and cortisone the same?

A — No, but both are useful in the treatment for arthritis.

We the Women

'Illness' Husbands Love

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The odd effect on some children of too much television watching was recently reported by a pair of pediatricians with the Air Force Medical Corps.

The doctors described this illness, brought on by excessive television viewing, as the "tired child syndrome."

In some sensitive, introspective children, the doctors reported, television can become a form of addiction. The more television they watch the more tired they become, until finally they are just too tired to do anything but watch television.

This makes me wonder: Is there also such a thing as a "tired husband syndrome" brought on by too much television viewing by the master of the house?

Perhaps the medical profession ought to look into that. Judging from letters I get from wives complaining that husbands never want to do anything but watch television, the tired husband syndrome is a distinct possibility.

Wives whose husbands are addicted to television claim their idea of a perfect evening is to sit before the set from the minute they get home from work until they go to bed.

Some claim their husbands even fall asleep sitting up in front of the set.

When their wives suggest having a couple in for cards, or going out to a movie or calling they're too tired.

They ask, fretfully, "Why can't we just stay at home and watch television?"

And that's what they do — night after night and weekend after weekend.

Of course, if there is a tired husband syndrome it might not be as simple to cure as the tired child syndrome.

The child is cured simply by not being allowed to watch television at all.

But who is going to be able to tell a tired husband that he can't watch television — and make it stick?

Introduce Legislation

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A member of Parliament recently introduced legislation to make it illegal for any Indian couple to have more than three children. Ex-Minister of Health D. P. Karmakar successfully argued against it, saying Parliament is sovereign over everything but the birth of children.

The game of bridge, a name applied to each of the three card games, bridge whist, auction bridge and contract bridge, derives from the game of whist. Bridge whist has been obsolete since 1910. Surveys have indicated there are about 5,000,000 auction bridge players in the United States today. Auction bridge once had 15,000,000 players in the United States before it became secondary to contract bridge in the 1930s.

Troubled Future Ahead for Congo

EDITOR'S NOTE — What are the Congo's chances of survival as an independent nation? Could it become another Viet Nam? In this final article of a series, an AP correspondent examines the outlook and prospects in the turbulent African republic.

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Ironically, one hope of reaching some stability in the Congo and averting another Viet Nam is that the Communists may find it even more frustrating and maddening than the West has.

Thus far, although the mimeograph machines have been busy on both sides, neither East nor West appears heavily committed in this country, which to the visitor, seems to have a natural instinct for anarchy, contradiction and chaos.

The Russians have talked loudly about aiding the Congo rebels but to date there is little sign they have. African countries such as Algeria, Ghana and the United Arab Republic apparently have sent some material aid but, because of their own economic difficulties, Western sources doubt that they can send much.

The Red Chinese have won considerable mileage on what appears to be little effort — some weapons, money and propaganda. The United States, which supported the central government with a fingers-crossed attitude, now supplies the Congo about $50 million a year in aid, most of it in agricultural surplus. As the cold war goes, this is small.

If the Chinese increase their involvement in the mineral-rich, strategically placed Congo, the United States may be forced to increase its commitment — all of which could quickly escalate into another Viet Nam. The big question, then, is how interested are the Chinese?

"Logistically, another Viet Nam here would be difficult for the Chinese since they would be a long way from home," said one Western diplomat. "Obviously, they don't mind perpetuating turmoil in the Congo but I can't believe that they or any other Communists seriously regard this as their kind of revolution. Communists require a people capable of more political discipline and inflexibility."

Nothing is so rare as political discipline in the Congo or a politician who is not flexible. Ideology counts for nothing. Civil wars start simply because one group of politicians wants to replace another at the public treasury. Today's irrevocable feud may be tomorrow's irrevocable alliance.

For two years of blood warfare, Moise Tshombe fought the central government with his secessionist movement in Katanga. Now, at its invitation, he heads the central government as its prime minister.

Christopher Gbenya now leads the revolution, apparently from exile. But it was Gbenya who once offered the top spot in the rebellion to Tshombe in exchange for financial support. Tshombe turned him down.

And it was Gbenya who once came to the U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville with a letter asking for money for his movement. But the letter he pulled out of his pocket was addressed to the Soviet ambassador. The mistake was called to his attention. Without dropping an ideological stitch, Gbenya quickly replaced the letter with a similar one addressed to the American ambassador.

Captured documents show that some rebel leaders tried to borrow from the Red Chinese manual of revolution. Thus, to keep the local populace on their side, rebel troops were admonished against stealing from civilians. But this appeared to be no problem for the soldiers of the "Congo People's Republic." They would ask a civilian for his money or jewelry and if he obliged, surely that wasn't stealing? The fact that the request was made at gunpoint seemed irrelevant.

And then there is "l'arrangement a la bantou," which has given fits to Westerners trying to teach Congolese government and is likely to slow down the Chinese, even with their great patience. This is the bantou, or African arrangement, a psychology that almost defies Western understanding.

The Congolese conception of government is not rule but discussion, not action but palaver. The prime object of debate is not decision but talk. Westerners think the only logical point of debate is a vote in which the majority rules. The Congolese find this too unkind to the minority. And so they talk and talk until all sides are so exhausted compromise may become possible. And even then there is little inclination to feel bound by the ultimate solution.

Virtually all sources here agree that what the Congo needs most is time, but the world gives it little time. History offers few parallels. There might have been a similar situation in the United States if the fourth quarter of 1963 and the comparable period in 1964. Eggert's marketing research position with Ford includes assignments abroad.

and only four years between 1776 and 1964.

Western diplomats regard the Congo's chances of survival as a nation as a race against time. The United Nations has a technical assistance force here of 2,000 experts all hurrying to teach the government and mechanical skills. The Congo began independence four years ago without a college graduate of its own, without one Congolese military officer, without one man trained in government. Now there are a few and more are studying at universities abroad and small schools here. The first class of Congolese judges was graduated only a few weeks ago. Army officers are being trained in Belgium and Israel. All of this takes time.

Meanwhile, the United States supports the Tshombe regime as the only one now capable of governing at all. This involves a long series of ifs.

"If more officials and army officers can be trained soon enough," says an American diplomatic source, "if Tshombe isn't assassinated, if he or some other strong man can hold it together, if foreign pressures don't prove too divisive, I'd say there is some hope for the Congo."

"So far, I'd say our side is staying about even. For the moment, it's winning militarily. Diplomatically, we're taking a hell of a pounding. We knew we would by supporting Tshombe, who is so thoroughly hated elsewhere in Africa. But he is able, and he was the choice of the legal government, and we support the legal government."

"The alternative would be complete unending chaos. Unless the Congo learns something about government and national unity, it will fall apart into separate warring states. One or two might be pro-Western, and others pro-Communist. There would be so much fighting that in the end it would cost everybody more."

Why doesn't the United States just pull out and save itself the possible agony of another Viet Nam?

"Because the Congo is the heart of Africa and controls the approaches to much of the continent. I don't think the Russians are serious here, they're just keeping an oar in because they're worried more about the Chinese than us."

"And we're more worried about the Chinese than the Russians. They've already bought Burundi, a small neighboring kingdom. They are very active across the river in the other Congo. They are increasing their influence in Tanganyika and are moving into the Sudan. You can't just let a continent as big and important as Africa go by default."

While talking, the American had been trying to reach a member of the Congolese Cabinet by phone. After three tries, he finally got a dial tone. Then he got a busy signal. Then he got the wrong number, none of which is unusual in the chaotic Leopoldville phone system. Finally — and this too is not unusual — he got the right number but the Cabinet member he sought wasn't there and no one seemed to know where he was or when or if he would be back.

The American shrugged wearily and lit another cigarette. To Western men, chain-smoking comes easily in the Congo but little else does.

You won't get rich overnight buying U.S. Savings Bonds. But for the long run, they make an excellent investment.

You get a guaranteed rate of interest—3 3/4% when held to maturity—so there's no ups and downs to worry about.

You also get certain tax advantages since Savings Bonds aren't subject to state or local income taxes and the federal tax can be deferred until the Bonds are cashed.

But probably most important is that Bonds pay off in more than dollars. When you get your Bond investment back you know it has helped Uncle Sam strengthen the cause of freedom (your cause) all around this troubled world of ours.

In Big Eight Play

Jayhawks Take Tourney Honors

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas received a big lift from Riney Lochmann and Al Lopes in nudging hungry Colorado for the Big Eight holiday tourney crown. The fact the Jayhawks did it without much second half help from 6-foot-11 Walt Wesley adds to their stature.

Lochmann's tip-in with two seconds left won for Kansas, 53-51. The underrated Buffaloes gave highly favored Kansas the fight of its life. Kansas didn't play quite as well as it did in edging Kansas State 54-52 in the semifinals. It was the lowest-scoring title game in 15 years.

If the title game proved anything, it was that Kansas deserves a co-favorite rating with K-State, but neither team is overpowering. Colorado gained new respect as a contender. K-State smashed Missouri 90-62 for third place and Oklahoma State outlasted Oklahoma 65-46 for fifth. Iowa State beat Nebraska, a tourney disappointment, 69-62 for seventh place. It was Kansas' sixth title in the 19-year tourney.

Lochmann, a rugged 6-foot-6 210-pounder, was the steadiest player in the tourney. He had 15 points on 7-for-11 shooting and 10 rebounds in the title game. Lopes had 18 with sizzling 9-for-12 shooting from the outside. Wesley had only 10 points, benched with four fouls much of the last half. Norm Saunders led KU with 15 points and 11 rebounds.

Lochmann and Colorado's Pat Frink tied for the most outstanding player award, but Lochmann in an ironic twist didn't make the all-tourney team, missing by a scant two votes.

"Everyone contributed to this great victory," said Ted Owens, Kansas, only the third freshman coach to win the title. "Lochmann gave us three great games. Every time you looked up, he was at 'em on the boards, on defense or getting key points."

"He did another great defensive job, this time on Mike Frink. The last game he stopped Jeff Simons of K-State."

Sox Walseth, Colorado coach, said "I'm proud of the way my players tried. We played well in all three tourney games."

Pat Frink, a 6-3 sophomore, was the top vote-getter on the all-tourney team with 44 votes on 51 ballots. Al Koch, 6-3, of Iowa State, Ned Monsees, 6-5, Missouri, Roy Smith, 6-10, of K-State, Wesley and the 6-5 Lopes were the other choices. Koch and Smith tied for the fifth spot.

Koch was the top tourney scorer with 62 points, a 20.7 average. Fred Hare of Nebraska had 55. Pat Frink 53, Smith 46, Jim Gatewood of Oklahoma and Wesley both 40, Gary Garner of Missouri, Lochmann and Lopes 39 each.

Monsees was by far the leading rebounder with 52 grabs and his 25 on the offensive boards was 11 more than any other player. Jim Kirg of Oklahoma State had 38, Lochmann 28, Saunders 27, Smith and Wesley 25.

In the title game Wesley fouled out with 1:33 left and Kansas ahead 50-47. Jack Lintz and Lynn Baker tied it with two foul shots each. Del Lewis tried a 20-foot jumper for KU with five seconds left. Both Lochmann and Fred Chana touched the ball in the tip.

Huge Scores End Nine Hours Of Basketball

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The players thundered up and down the basketball court for nine straight hours and when the final whistle blew, the Catholic Youth Organization had edged a YMCA squad, 690-673.

The game was arranged by Asheville Catholic High School Coach Charlie Munday with the idea of setting a marathon record for basketball.

Tipoff was at noon Wednesday and all 10 starters stuck it out until 9 p.m. A five-minute half-time was held at 4:30 p.m. for the players to change shoes, drink orange juice and eat a chocolate bar.

Otherwise the game continued uninterrupted.

Munday was satisfied with his production.

"The boys finished strong and played good defense," he said.

However, he wasn't particularly impressed with the offensive display. Munday recalled that he played in an eight-hour contest in Canton 22 years ago in which the final score was 1300-768, with high-scoring honorees going to a teammate who tallied 500 points.

Wallace Powers S-C Attack

By Ronnie Cowan

The Smith-Cotton Tigers came through with a smashing 60-45 victory over the Marshall Owls in Marshall Christmas Tournament championship game Wednesday night to prolong their winning streak and brighten up the Smith-Cotton trophy case with the trophy.

The Tigers' record now stands 6-3. Wednesday night's conquest was their sixth in a row.

In the battle for third place which preceded the title match, the Slater Wildcats, who fell to the Smith-Cotton attack Tuesday evening, squeaked by the Booneville Pirates 55-51 in a game which saw Booneville leading most of the time.

The Owls proved to be a bit rougher to handle in this meeting than in the Tigers' opening home game Dec. 7. Although the Tigers never lost the lead after several minutes had elapsed in the initial period, they were pressed hard on numerous occasions in the second quarter.

The fading seconds of the opening period saw an almost unbelievable basket by Tiger high-point man, Barry Wallace. The Owls had just registered two points with two seconds on the clock. The ball was passed into play to Wallace who let a line drive shot explode from the opponent's foul line. The 85-foot heave hit the back of the Tigers' rim and dropped through, tallying Wallace's only score for the quarter.

Tiger forward, Steve Young was right behind Wallace's 18 points with 17 of his own to bolster the Bengal's battle. The Owls' Larry Phillips led the scoring attack for Marshall with five field goals and two free throws.

As was true in Tuesday's encounter, the third period turned out to be the highest scoring for the Tigers and subsequently the period which led to their winning the game.

Smith-Cotton shoved in 23 points during the whole first half, and then duplicated this score in the third period to put the game out of reach of the Owls, who scored 10 points.

Marshall tried to salvage a little pride before the home crowd in the final quarter and succeeded in outscoring Sedalia by two points, far short of the amount required to eclipse the Tiger lead.

Score by quarters:
Sedalia ..... 15 8 23 14—60
Marshall ..... 11 8 10 16—45
Individual scoring — Sedalia:

Evansville Solidifies Its Hold

Back home in Indiana and in other states, the purple-and-white-clad Evansville Aces are causing some red faces among major-college basketball opponents.

They are also solidifying their hold on first place in the weekly Associated Press small-college poll.

Massachusetts was the Aces' latest victim last week, losing 113-82 and giving Evansville a 6-0 record, each victory against a major college. The others were against Iowa, Northwestern, Notre Dame, George Washington and Louisiana State.

In the latest balloting by a special regional panel of 14 writers and broadcasters, Evansville collected 13 first-place votes and 137 points. The points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

Grambling remained in the runner-up position with 105 points while Winston Salem and Pan American held third and fourth places, respectively.

Princeton Is Outscored

Benched Bradley Unable To Hold 1st Place Team

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Bradley, the Tiger in Princeton's tank, almost put a wrinkle in Michigan's record. But if there's one thing the All-America, Olympian and Rhodes Scholar can't do, it's hold off the nation's top-ranked basketball team from a spot on the bench.

And that was where Bradley was Wednesday night as Michigan outscored Princeton 17-1 in the last 4½ minutes and preserved its No. 1 ranking with an 80-78 victory over the Tigers in the semifinals of the Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament at New York.

It was windup night for 10 major tournaments as the annual holiday frenzy reached its peak on a day-long program that ended with fourth-ranked UCLA whipping Utah 104-74 for the championship in the Los Angeles Classic and unheralded Santa Clara annexing the WCAC crown by downing fifth-ranked San Francisco 73-71 at San Jose, Calif.

But the spotlight was on New York's Madison Square Garden, where a standing-room - only crowd of 18,499 jammed the ancient arena to see the individual duel between Bradley and Michigan's jumping jack, Cazzie Russell.

For 15 minutes and 23 seconds, however, Bradley wasn't outdueling Russell. He was outdueling Michigan. He had scored 41 points, taken down nine rebounds, collected four assists and held the man he was guarding, Oliver Darden, to one point. And Princeton led 75-63.

Then Bradley fouled out. In the next 4 minutes and 37 seconds, Bradley's fantastic one-man effort was wiped out by the smooth Michigan machine. A steal by John Thompson and a layup tied the score 78-78 with 36 seconds left and then Michigan regained the ball on an offensive foul by Princeton.

The Wolverines stalled and set up a final shot by Russell, who arched a long jumper from the corner that flicked through the cords with three seconds left.

Russell, who scored 27 points, will lead Michigan in the final Saturday against St. John's. The Redmen advanced with a 66-64 victory over Cincinnati on a pair of free throws by Jerry Houston with two seconds remaining.

At Los Angeles, UCLA had little difficulty subduing Utah but third-ranked Minnesota lost to Iowa 76-74 in the third-place game on Gary Olson's two free throws with three seconds left. The Bruins, meanwhile, rode Keith Erickson's 20-point effort to their ninth consecutive victory and handed the Utes their first defeat in 11 games.

The San Francisco Dons, who had lost only to a service team previously, built a 49-33 halftime lead before Santa Clara battled back, taking the lead 72-71 on Rich Levitt's layup with 37 seconds left. Erwin Mueller of San Francisco led the scorers with 27 points while Eric Paulson topped Santa Clara with 20.

But of all the tournaments, the one with the weirdest wind-up in this day of 100-point games was at Portland, Ore., where Oregon State held Tennessee to eight points in the first half and ended the Vols unbeaten string at seven with a 48-27 victory in the final of the Far West Classic.

Here's the way the other tournaments wound up:
All-College at Oklahoma City — The granddaddy of all the tournaments went to DePaul. The Blue Demons, led by Jesse Nash's 20 points and the work of most-valuable player Jim Murphy, defeated Oklahoma City 67-60 in the 29th renewal.

Big Eight at Kansas City — Riney Lochmann tipped in a basket with two seconds left, giving Kansas a 53-51 victory over Colorado. Lochmann wound up with 15 points, three less than teammate Al Lopez.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Despite the poor play of 6-foot-10 star Clyde Lee, Vanderbilt rolled to an easy 80-47 triumph over Louisville with John Ed Miller leading the way with 20 points.

Finishes Second

Lincoln U Closest To Tournament Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lincoln University of Missouri came the closest to winning a holiday basketball tournament among small colleges in the Missouri-Kansas area taking part in various and scattered events.

Lincoln finished second in the Paul Bunyan tourney at Bemidji, Minn., Wednesday night. Bemidji State came from behind in the second half to defeat Lincoln, the defending champion, 82-76. Lincoln led 51-31 at the half. The Beavers tied it at 61-all and led by small margins the rest of the way, partly on the strength of good free throws. Top scorer was Lincoln's Arvesta Kelly with 27 points. Augsburg defeated Morningside for third place.

Hastings, Neb., Emporia State took third place, defeating Westminster, Iowa, 93-77 in the Hastings Invitational. Emporia State scored eight straight points with less than 13 minutes to go and turned a 3-point advantage into a 73-62 bulge that Westminster was unable to do anything about. St. Benedict's won the tournament, beating Hastings 100-92.

Rockhurst of Kansas City finished fourth and Fort Hays State of Kansas eighth in the Quincy tournament at Quincy, Ill. Carson-Newman won the title, defeating Quincy 67-61. Kentucky State defeated Rockhurst 79-70 for third place, Western Illinois beat Oklahoma Baptist 89-71 for fifth and St. Cloud State, Minn., defeated Fort Hays State 84-78 for seventh.

Bad Night For Valley Cage Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a bad night for Missouri Valley conference teams in holiday tournament play as Cincinnati was upset by St. John's 66-64 in the Holiday Festival semifinals at New York and Louisville was ripped by Vanderbilt 80-47 in the Sugar Bowl finals at New Orleans.

The two defeats gave the Valley a record of six defeats in 10 games this week in five holiday tournaments. Cincinnati will face Princeton for third place in the Holiday Festival Saturday at New York.

Two games are on tonight's card, with Bradley facing Notre Dame and St. Louis meeting Chicago Loyola in a Chicago Stadium doubleheader.

The score was tied 64-all and Cincy was working for one last shot when Roland West of Cincy was called for an offensive foul with seven seconds to go. Then Jerry Houston was fouled, and dropped two foul shots for St. John's. Ron Krick led Cincy scoring with 14.

Louisville was ice cold from the field against Vanderbilt. Only reliable John Reuther, Louisville's 6-7 pivot, had any luck. He scored 20 points.

2 Coaches Complain After Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The losing coach says his team threw it away.

The winning coach says his team didn't get enough credit for rebounding well and making great shots.

Whatever the reason, the Los Angeles Lakers, Western Division leaders of the National Basketball Association, wound up on the short end of a 117-115 count in the second half of an NBA doubleheader Wednesday night against the host Philadelphia 76ers.

Lucious Jackson and Dave Gambee led the 76ers with 24 points each, but it was Hal Greer's 20-foot jump shot and free throw in the last 66 seconds which gave Philadelphia the come-from-behind win.

In the opener of the twinbill, the New York Knicks, with Johnny Green scoring 33 points, handed the San Francisco Warriors their sixth straight loss, 118-102, despite Wilt Chamberlain's 41 points.

In other NBA action, the St. Louis Hawks toppled the Detroit Pistons 125-120 for their second straight victory under their new coach, Richie Guerin, and the Boston Celtics, led by Sam Jones' 37 tallies, defeated the Baltimore Bullets 121-114.

In Philadelphia, Laker Coach Fred Schaus said he was "pretty disgusted" with the way his team "threw the game away."

"We played stupid basketball," he said. "I don't mind losing, but I don't like giving it away."

76er Coach Dolph Schayes had other thoughts.

"Schaus does not give us enough credit for rebounding well and making great shots. We play superior basketball ... and we beat them when (Elgin) Baylor and (Jerry) West played over their heads."

Baylor scored 37 and West had 35.

Hundreds of Reds Arrested In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Hundreds of Communists throughout India were arrested before dawn today.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's government said the Reds had been "preparing for violence" and "acting as a fifth column" — apparently meaning they had been working for Communist China.

The government, which faces a close election contest with the Communists in Kerala State, hauled Red leaders out of bed in closely coordinated raids all across the country.

Cary Grant Not On Side Of Censors

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those seeking a clampdown on movie morals will find no ally in Cary Grant. He doesn't believe in telling film makers what they can and cannot do.

Grant is a man of many guises. The most famous of these is the film star, impeccable, stylized, a master of technique.

There is also Grant the businessman, who from his luxurious suite at Universal City plans and follows his films from inception to merchandizing.

Then there is Grant the philosopher, and he was the one I engaged in a discussion of the coming crisis in movie morals. The news columns have been full of it, especially with the National Legion of Decency's condemnation of "Kiss Me, Stupid" and its blast at the film industry's failure to censor itself.

No Cary Grant movie has ever run afoul of the censors. You might expect him to side with the forces of restraint. He doesn't.

"I make my own sort of films," he said; "films that appeal to me. If others wish to make a different kind of product and dare to risk the public's wrath, then it's up to them."

"If the public doesn't want their product, then they shouldn't go to see it. I make no claim to know who, or what, is right or wrong, or where lie the precise boundaries between decency and indecency, morality or immorality. I adhere to my own without, I trust, offense to my fellow man."

Grant believes that the good pictures will always make money, and that is the kind he aims to make. As to the films that traffic in sex and violence, he makes no judgment.

"I'm not so sure that if a young person sees a crime picture that he will want to go out and repeat the crime," said Grant. "On the other hand it's very possible that by seeing violence on the screen he will be divested of the violence that is within him."

"Kids are so inhibited nowadays that they have to bust out in some way. It's much better that they let themselves go at a violent movie than to bust out with tire chains."

"That's why the Beatles are so good for teen-agers: they can release their energies by screaming at those fellows."

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — If you get lost in the Brazilian jungle and need help, start cooking a feijoada.

Sure enough, someone will show up to tell you you're doing it the wrong way.

Feijoada — pronounced fay-zoh-ah-da — is a favorite Brazilian dish eaten once a week, usually on Saturday.

It's a formidable black bean stew that to the uninitiated may look as if it will devour him instead. Not a light or easy-to-make dish, feijoada is the champ of cookbooks recipes — and as controversial.

Much jest goes with the stew, usually by its most passionate devotees.

Some say, for instance, that the recipe calls for everything in the kitchen that isn't moving except members of the immediate family.

Fifteen different varieties of meat, mostly salted or smoked, and a small mountain of black beans go into a "feijoada completa," as it is called. It takes two days to assemble.

Depending on the "favorite" recipe given you, the meats may include salt pork, seasoned pork sausage, ham, dried beef, salted tongue, tripe, pork shoulder and pork ribs and pigs' knuckles, feet and ears. The quantities vary down from two pounds.

The meats and beans are soaked overnight. The following day, they are drained, placed in a large vat, covered with water and boiled for several hours, or until the beans are soft.

Chopped onions, parsley, tomatoes, bay leaf and a well-mashed clove of garlic are sautéed in two tablespoons of fat. When the onions are brown, a small portion of the black beans is added to the mixture in the frying pan. The beans are mashed until the sauce thickens. This is then returned to the big kettle for blending with the stew.

When ready to serve, the meat is removed from the kettle first, sliced and arranged on a platter. The beans are served from a soup tureen.

Usually, feijoada is served with generous helpings of white rice, hot manioc flour, hot collard greens and slices of orange. A dash of fiery hot pepper called malagueta is also available.

Eating feijoada, almost a ritual, is often launched with a shot of cachaca — pronounced ca-sha-sa — a powerful relative of rum.

This, critics say, served to partly numb the senses and warn the stomach.

Alabama, Arkansas Sharing Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Alabama is the No. 1 college football team in the country. Arkansas, however, leads in number of shutouts posted by teams in this week's bowl games.

The Razorbacks, in fact, go into their Cotton Bowl clash with Nebraska Friday with a string of five consecutive shutouts. Nebraska, on the other hand, blanked three opponents in winning nine of 10 games.

These two teams have more combined shutouts to their credit than any other pairing. Here's a rundown on the other bowls with all but the Gator, scheduled for Saturday, being played Friday:

Rose — Michigan, 8-1, blanked three opponents while Oregon State, 8-2, is the only participant in a game this week that failed to gain a shutout during the regular season.

Orange — Alabama, 10-0, kept two teams from crossing the goal line, Texas, 9-1, three.

Sugar — Syracuse, 7-3, and Louisiana State, 7-2-1, each held one opponent scoreless.

Gator — Florida State, 8-2, blanked four teams while Oklahoma, 6-3-1, stopped two without a score.

Arkansas, ranked No. 2 in the final Associated Press poll, didn't allow a point after it edged Texas, last year's national champion, 14-13. Before that contest, only Tulsa and Jerry Rhome had scored more than one touchdown against the Razorbacks.

The Southwest Conference champions swept through the last half of their season without giving up a point to Wichita, Texas A&M, Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Tech. They finished with a 10-0 record.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles isn't too certain, though, that his team can extend its streak through another game. His concern stems from Nebraska's unbalanced line featuring a split end.

"We haven't faced an unbalanced line this year, and I don't know what my boys will do against it," Broyles said. "We'll have to adjust or we're sunk."

In the Orange Bowl, meanwhile, Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama isn't pessimistic about his team's chances despite injuries to quarterbacks Joe Namath and Steve Sloan.

"We're not a one-man team," Bryant said after Namath tested his bad right knee for 20 minutes and Sloan led the team through a 70-minute drill despite a ligament tear in his right knee.

Newspaperboys are honored on the basis of route performance, including salesmanship, records, and service to subscribers.

Not all boys are listed, since certain standards of performance are required for qualification.

In addition to earning money, newspaper route management offers an opportunity to win friends, and to develop characteristics important in later years. Any boy interested in managing a Democrat route is invited to fill out a route application.

Two More Americans Killed in Viet Nam
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department reported Wednesday night two United States fatalities in operations in Viet Nam.

They were Army M.Sgt. William L. Siegrist, whose wife, Marion, lives at Stumpy Point, N.C., and Army S.Sgt. Reino A. Panula, whose next of kin is a daughter, Donna R. Panula, Columbia City, Ind.

The department said the two men were killed when their combat patrol position was overrun. The Defense Department also identified two American soldiers missing while accompanying a Viet Nam combat patrol Tuesday.

The two were believed captured by the Viet Cong. They were:
Pvt. Charles E. Crafts, whose father is Leroy B. Crafts of North Jay, Maine.
Sgt. Harold G. Bennett, whose mother is Mrs. Pauline H. Bennett, Box 185, Perryville, Ark.

Plan Feed Plant in Kansas City
KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Grain and Alfalfa Barge Terminal Corp. said Wednesday it plans to have a $2 million livestock and poultry feed processing plant in operation by next spring.

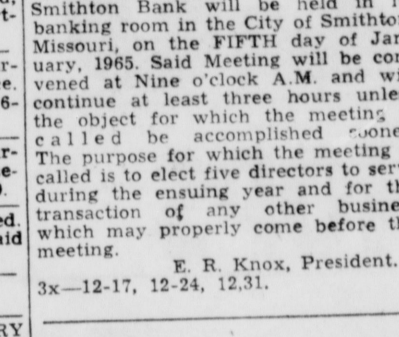

The terminal, to be served by barge and rail, would be built along the north bank of the Missouri River near suburban Riverside, Mo.

If city zoning permits, construction of the 12-bin facility will start this winter, Jack A. Mall, president of the new corporation, said.

Hope Troupe In Security During Tour
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I think we had the most security of all time," said comedian Bob Hope, just returned from a Christmas tour of U.S. military bases in the Far East. "I've never had my back scrubbed by a bayonet before."
Hope and his troupe flew into Los Angeles International Airport Wednesday to end a 15-day tour that included Guam, Korea, Okinawa, Thailand and South Viet Nam.
Hope's lips were chapped from the countless outdoor shows he performed. Actress Jill St. John was nursing a limp; someone dropped a native crossbow on her ankle. No one suffered any serious mishaps.
Military authorities weren't taking any chance the Hope troupe might be the target of Red terrorists.
Hope said: "Our destination was such a secret we really didn't know where we were ourselves. Really!"
In Korea a helicopter carrying comic Jerry Colonna and bandleader Less Brown developed engine trouble in a snowstorm and had to make a forced landing outside Seoul.
"But the highlight was Viet Nam," said Hope. "We found out a lot of things. I never dreamed the Viet Cong was peppered all over the place. We saw a lot of destruction from the Viet Cong."
He praised the U.S. fighting men there.
"Those kids are the greatest Americans — they're staging a great fight. I think we're holding our own."
Hope, who has missed 13 Christmases at home this way, celebrated the holiday in a South Viet Nam mess hall with his troupe and G.I.s. Also with him this year were Anna Maria Alberghetti, Janis Paige, Anita Bryant, and Ann Sidney, winner of the Miss World beauty pageant.
Their departure from their plane was delayed 30 minutes for customs inspection in Los Angeles, and Hope quipped: "I'm going back to Guam." Finally they made it down the ramp to where newsmen and families were waiting.
"It was great," Hope said. "The most exciting Christmas trip since 1943."

The organ is one of the world's oldest musical instruments and the first of the keyboard instruments. Ctesibus, a Greek engineer of the Third century, B.C., living in Alexandria, is credited with inventing the hydraulis, an instrument with the essential characteristics of the modern organ. It had a set of pipes controlled by keys and levers which admitted or shut off the wind. Cicero says it was often used at banquets in Rome.
